Sale of The Eastern Kentucky Normal Farm.

Under the above caption the following splendid article, written by Mr. T. H. Collins, of this county, appeared in the Courier-Journal of Jan. 30:

I noticed in your paper about a week ago that the committee appointed to investigate the State institutions, among which is the Eastern Kentucky Normal School, reported that they considered it advisable to sell the farm owned by said school and further that said school cease the teaching of agriculture.

With your kind permission I would like to occupy a little of your time and space in answering the criticism of said committee.

Be it understood now that the Eastern Kentucky Normal School is no more to me than it is to every other farmer, and that I am in no way directly connected with it.

If Kentucky is ever going to take a place in the front ranks in the sisterhood of States, it is high time she was adopting an aggressive policy as to the education of her youths.

To adopt the policy recommended by this committee would be to step backward and to say the least, extremely shortsighted.

The reason assigned by the said committee for proposing to sell said farm, namely, because agriculture is not taught in the common schools, and it is therefore unnecessary to equip our teachers along that line, brands that committee as one whose vision extends not beyond the end of its nose, as one who hasn't the faintest glimmer of the future.

To me the man that cannot see that scientific agriculture is the salvation of the country is indeed in darkness, and deserves such mercy at the hands of his fellow man as will force him to attend for one term the farmers' short course at our State University.

At our present rate of increase 50 years hence our country will almost double in population, and it will become necessary for us to vastly increase our production per acre in order to meet the actual needs of our own people, and it doesn't take an intellectual giant to see with our present methods that instead of increasing our production we will almost cut it in half.

It is a well known fact that the fertility of our soil is being depleted every day and we are being brought face to face with the serious question, how can we stop such depletion?

Can we not see that the demands made of our soil are more than they were 50 years ago, and that 50 years hence they will far exceed what they are today?

As time moves on the responsibilities resting upon the shoulders of the tillers of the soil become greater and greater, and as his physical power is limited he must find some near cut to be able to meet such responsibilities, and that near cut is by way of scientific agriculture.

I contend that no farmer by or thro, the school of experience could have ever learned how to restore the fertility to our depleted soils, and yet today, thanks to scientific agriculture, it is a simple matter.

We have gone down the scale sufficiently far and we owe it to the farmer youths of our great State that we begin to retrace our footsteps, and I know of no better place to make said beginning than on the farms owned by the State and operated by her schools.

But a very small per cent. of our common school pupils ever reach the University, and for that reason we should strive to teach in our common schools the things that will be of vital importance to them in after life, and scientific agriculture, it seems to me, touches the vital spot.

Let us teach the farmer boys that there is yet hope for the old farm; let us show him how the combination of certain acids will make Nature unlock her storehouse of fertility, and if he finds it depleted let us show him how he can add phosphorus, potassium, calcium in its cheapest form and then teach him how legumes through their root bacteria extract the nitrogen from the air and deposit it in his soil. Let us also teach him that these bacteria will not thrive in acid soils; let us try to inspire him with a desire to know more about the soil from which he lives and from which he draws the sustenance for himself and the teeming millions of the world.

But how can we teach without a teacher? We hear on every hand and at every turn the cry "Back to the soil" and as we look around and observe the food supply and prices the necessity for such a move becomes more apparent every day, and if such is the case why cannot we in Kentucky adopt a policy that will encourage the boys and girls who are on the farm to stay there? Why lock the stable after the horse has been stolen?

I believe the Board of Regents of the Eastern Kentucky Normal School acted wisely when they purchased the much-discussed farm for which they have been so severely criticised by the "criticisms" and so deeply probed by the "probers."

I don't suppose it would be claimed for a minute that the farm is a fine investment from a pure dividend basis, but to him who can see farther ahead than his nose, it gives assurance of paying back to our great State in a higher, more progressive and more enlightened citizenship a thousand fold what it has cost in dollars and cents. I believe one of the greatest things our fiscal courts could do would be to buy a well-equipped farm for each county and employ a first-class farm expert to demonstrate to the farmers the best methods in conserving the fertility of their soils and also the latest and best methods of crop production.

I believe the farmer boy in Kentucky is entitled to know as much about agriculture as his cousin in Illinois and Wisconsin, and yet we, as compared with either of those States, are spending but a small amount to teach our boys how to farm.

I believe the Kentucky girl is entitled to know as much about domestic science as the girls of any other State, and yet, as compared with scores of our sister States, we are doing but little to help our girls equip themselves for the households of the future.

May I call the attention of the above-mentioned committee that these are not dead issues; not dreams of some theorist, but are living, vital questions that we must meet and solve in a manner consistent with the dignity of our State.

Instead of recommending the sale of the farm, let that committee put their shoulders to the wheel and have such steps taken as will put scientific agriculture in the curriculum of the common schools.

Let the retrenchment begin at some other point; play petty politics from some other angle. Be the watch-dog of the treasury when the good of the Commonwealth demands.

I should regret it exceedingly should a General Assembly elected by the people of a great agricultural State like Kentucky so far forget the interests of their constituents as to adopt the recommendations of the "Probe" Committee in regard to the farm of the Eastern Kentucky Normal School.

The Cruel Steel Trap.

The use of the steel trap is so fiendishly cruel that it is hard to understand how any human being can set one. And those who use them are either utterly devoid of humane feeling, or more likely are thoughtless and share the popular belief that animals do not suffer as keenly as man does.

This is a mistake; they do suffer, and suffer greatly but they bear injuries uncomplainingly, and with a fortitude that is really pathetic and never equalled by man. When one thinks of a dumb animal, caught in the cruel, rending jaws of a steel trap, perhaps in the early hours of a bitterly cold night, undergoing excruciating agonies for many hours until relieved by death at the hands of the trapper in the morning, he is a disgrace to his race, if he ever employs such a means of capture.

All legislation against the steel trap should be encouraged until the practice is wiped out and only remembered as a relic of barbarism.—Nashville, Ten n., Banner.

Never thought of it that way, did you? And yet we are civilized, christian people. Of course legislation is needed and should be passed to prevent the use of steel traps, but our own conscience and sense of fair play should make such laws unnecessary.

Eine Stock Dying.

Many valuable horses have died in this county within the past week, causing heavy losses, presumably from catarrh trouble. The State Veterinary was here looking into the situation, and it is said gave it out that the trouble was brought about by feed the animals had eaten, which had become spoiled. A number of highly-bred saddle mares and brood mares are among the number that have died.—Mt. Sterling Advocate.

State Should Provide Free Education.

That Kentucky ought to give free education to any poor boy or girl who can make the grade, is the platform of education upon which President Barker, of the State University, stands. He declared this policy during the Senate probe of the State University conditions. President Barker expressed no sympathy for the present law, which provides that students, to get free tuition must be appointed from the various counties of the State.

Farm For Sale.

A farm consisting of 53 acres of good land, located on the Lincoln and Jackson Way, 41-2 miles from Elizabethtown and 40 miles from Louisville, Ky. Land lies just rolling enough to drain well; has overabundant water; new 6-room concrete block house, a barn and all necessary outbuildings; also on a surveyed electric line, one mile from school, church and grocery. A very desirable home. Price, $3,500. For further particulars address W. G. Williams, Elizabethtown, Hardin county, Ky. R. Route 3. 20-11

Double Entry.

A young Philadelphian who had decided that his somewhat extravagant spouse ought to keep an account of her expenditures, came to her one day with a neat little account book, very prettily bound.

"Now, Suzanne," he said, "I want you to put down on this side of the book the money I give you for household expenses, and on the other a statement of how it goes. In a couple of weeks I'll give you another supply of money."

Suzanne took the book and promised to follow instructions.

"Oh, I've kept it all right," said Suzanne. "Here it is."

On one page was written: "Received from Dick $100" and on the opposite side was the very comprehensive statement; "Spent it all."

Horrible Blisters of Eczema

Quickly cured by Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment. C. P. Caldwell, of New Orleans, La., states: "My doctor advised me to try 'Dr. Hobson's Eczema Salve.' I used three boxes of Ointment and three cakes of Dr. Hobson's Eczema Soap. To-day I have not a spot anywhere upon my body and can say I am cured." It will do the same for you. Its soothing, healing, antiseptic action will rid you of all skin humors, blackheads, pimples, eczema blotches, red, unsightly sores, and leaves your skin clean and healthy. Get a box to-day. Guaranteed. All druggists. 50 cents or by mail. Pfeiffer Chemical Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis. Feb.

Ensilage-Killing Stock.

Dr. H. Cusey, Assistant Veterinary in the Department of Agriculture, has returned to Danville from a trip to Adair county where he went at the direction of State Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman, to investigate the death of eleven horses within thirty-six hours from defective ensilage, says the Danville Messenger.

Dr. Casey found that the ensilage in question had developed ptomaine poison from mould corn and that this was the cause of death to the stock. Several cases have been reported of cattle having succumbed to the same kind of poisoning. Dr. Casey said that he would recommend that farmers use more care in feeding ensilage to horses, and that if fed at all, it should be used with an added ration such as a good hay. However, it would be better not to feed it to horses, he said.

"Cattle thrive on good ensilage," said Dr. Casey. "I don't think it should be fed to working stock, such as horses and mules. Care should be taken to detect and destroy mouldy or defective silage."

Hives, eczema, itch or salt rheum sets you crazy. Can't bear the touch of your clothing. Doan's Ointment is fine for skin itching. All druggists sell it. 50 cents a box.

HARMONY HAIR BEAUTIFIER

Is just what its name implies.—Just to make the hair glossy, lustrous, more beautiful.—Just to make it easier to dress, and more natural to fall easily and gracefully into the wavy lines and folds of the coiffure.

It leaves a delightful fresh and cool effect, and a lingering, delicate perfume. Will not change or darken the color. Contains no oil; therefore doesn't leave the hair sticky or stringy. Simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. But first, make sure that your hair and scalp are clean, by using —A liquid shampoo to keep the hair clean, soft, smooth and beautiful. It gives an instantaneous, rich, foaming lather, penetrating to every part of the hair and scalp. It is washed off just as quickly, the entire operation taking only a few moments. It leaves no lumps or stickiness.—Just a refreshing sense of cool, sweet cleanliness.—Just a dainty, pleasant and clean fragrance.

Harmony Shampoo

—Both in odd-shaped ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops.

CHEAP COLONY HOUSE PLANS

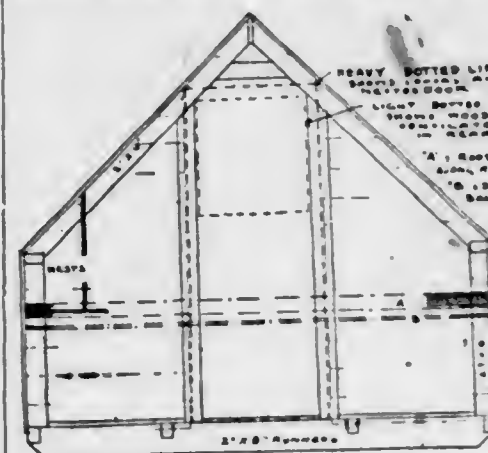

Ideas Taken From Various Experimental Station Bulletins for Most Economical Structure.

Below is given the plan of a colony house that is adapted from plans shown by the various experimental station bulletins.

This plan shows what is probably the most economical house that can possibly be built and is useful to the average farmer for several reasons. The house is eight feet square and the plan shows one end of it. For the ground covered and the space available, this plan requires less lumber than any good colony house that we have ever seen.

The front, rear, roof and sides are all built of tongue and groove stuff six inches wide, and the entire house is covered with a good grade of heavy roofing paper, thus making it as warm a place as is necessary in the severest of weather. It is built on two-inch by three-inch runners so that it may be moved around the farm from place to place as desired.

It will accommodate from 25 to 50 growing pullets, depending on their size, and may be used to hold about 15 layers in the winter. It may also be used to house about the same number in the spring, when it is desired to group the best birds of the entire flock so that they may be used as breeders. In bad weather two of these houses could be placed together being connected by an alley, one being used as a scratching pen and the other as a roosting room.

AFRICAN, OR 'STUFFED' GOOSE

Fowls Grow Heaviest in Shortest Space of Time of Any Varieties—Bring Highest Price.

(By R. G. DAWSON.)

A cross between the Brown China goose and the common goose of India was the original progenitor of the African goose. Why they are called African is not clearly understood, and the standard adopted this name in 1879.

They will grow the heaviest in the shortest space of time of any of the varieties, and are being raised extensively around Watertown, Wis., consequently this locality has become famous for raising what is called the "Stuffed Goose."

This goose, when "stuffed" and marketed, will bring the very highest price the market commands, and the demand is not half supplied.

African geese are used almost exclusively for breeding, as they are the most hardy and vigorous, and have great size. These African geese are crossed on common or grade geese, and this cross is the most profitable to produce the "stuffed goose."

These will grow the largest of all the varieties, either pure-bred or crossed, and one specimen, cross-bred, was known to the writer as weighing 38 pounds, and was sold for 38 cents a pound, bringing the sum of $14.44.

The market price is established and remains practically the same each year. The average weight per goose of a farmer's consignment will fix the price he will get.

Fowls in good health always have a bright red comb.

Success in turkey raising depends much upon keeping every thing clean and dry.

Poultry like rye and rape for green food far better than wheat. Sow some now for their winter feed.

Nothing stunts the growth of chickens or turkeys like huddling close together in badly ventilated coops.

With the run of the orchard, a house eight by ten feet in size will shelter 35 hens and can be built for $15 to $25.

Geese enjoy low, wet pastures. They do not thrive in confined quarters. Grass and water, is their principal diet.

It is claimed that in laying an egg, the pullet parts with about 1-60 part, by weight, of the total solid nutriment of its own body.

A hopper of dry bran placed where the fowls can get at it at all times during the winter will do a great deal to balance the ration.

Chicken fever is the annual disease that can be cured only by free indulgence on the part of the one who is suffering from the attack.

After selling off all the old roosters look over the old hens and sell off all that are passing two years unless they are extra good layers.

A Winter Cough.

A stubborn, annoying, depressing cough hangs on, racks the body, weakens the lungs, and often leads to serious results. The first dose of Dr. King's New Discovery gives relief. Henry D. Sanders, of Cavendish, Vt., was threatened with consumption after having pneumonia. He writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery ought to be in every family; it is certainly the best of all medicines for coughs, colds or lung troubles." Good for children's lungs. Money back if not satisfied. Price 50 cents and $1.00. At all druggists. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

An Accomplished Cow.

According to this advertisement in a Connecticut country paper, there is a cow in New England which is possessed of rare accomplishments:

"Wanted—A steady and respectable young man to look after a garden and care for a cow who has a good voice and is accustomed to sing in the choir."

Historic House to be Preserved.

Sentiment, backed by wealthy members of the Disciples of Christ, or Christian Church, has won the fight to preserve the little red brick structure in Bethany, Va., in which Alexander Campbell, founder of the church, first preached his new doctrine. When efforts were made to raze the old building to make way for a modern structure, objection was made throughout the denomination. Wealthy communicants, headed by Dr. R. A. Long, of Kansas City, have promised to take care of the old house, and it will be used as a historical shrine.

Change in County Unit Law.

The county unit plank of the Democratic platform took a step toward more effectual existence Tuesday when Senator W. A. Frost, of Graves county, reported favorably the bill changing the method of calling a local option election in a county. The measure provides that instead of 25 per cent. of the voters of each precinct being necessary to call an election, 25 per cent. of the voters of the county as a whole are required. The Frost measure is scheduled to pass both Houses without delay in the opinion of those interested.

The Sooner The Better.

Without a dissenting vote the Kentucky Senate passed the Arnett bill as amended by the committee, fixing a drastic punishment for the carrying of concealed deadly weapons.

Under the provisions of the measure a first conviction carries with it disfranchisement for two years, besides a fine of from $10 to $100 and a jail sentence of ten to forty days. The penalty upon a second conviction is confinement in the penitentiary of from one to five years. The amendment by the committee provides a fine of from $10 to $50 for the circuit clerk or sheriff who fails or refuses to issue a capias or execute the judgment.

We hope to see this bill not only pass the House, but that no Representative will feel called upon to vote against it. The "pistol toting" habit in Kentucky should be stopped, and the Arnett measure appears drastic enough to put atop to the cowardly practice. Hundreds of murders in this State would never have occurred had a law similar to the one just passed by the Senate been on the statute books. The sooner it becomes the law of the State the better it will be for the good name of Kentucky.—Bowling Green Times Journal.

Marshall Here.

Mr. A. R. Marshall, of Richmond, who will be one of the managers of the new wholesale grocery firm which will occupy the building on Broadway, to be erected at once by N. Roll Ratliff, was in this city Thursday looking over the plans, etc. The firm will be known as the "House of Hurst" and is composed of several business men of Richmond, who are anxious to start in, realizing what a fine business point Winchester affords. Several Hurst brothers, manufacturers and retailers of Madison's capital, will own the bulk of the stock in the new firm and they are hustlers, too. Mr. Newt Powell has the contract and will begin at once on the new building. —Winchester Democrat.

Meeting City Council.

Regular monthly meeting of the City Council was held Thursday night with Mayor Rice and all councilmen present. The street committee recommended that a hydrant be placed on Big Hill avenue, and it was so ordered. Light was ordered placed at corner of streets near H. L. Perry's residence, in Burnamwood. The proposition, which was introduced at the December meeting of Council, to erect a work-house came up for discussion. The matter was deferred until the next meeting in order to give the taxpayers an opportunity to express their opinion regarding this contemplated movement. Rev. E. B. Barnes appeared before the Council and requested that ordinance relating to cruelty to animals be enforced. Considerable routine business was transacted, followed by adjournment.

"The Firefly."

Novelty of story, locale and music were the three essentials borne in mind when Otto Haurbach and Rudolf Friml set out to create "The Firefly," little Miss Edith Thayer's new starring vehicle, which will be seen at the Ren Al, Lexington's Theatre Beautiful, Feb. 24 and 25, with Wednesday's matinee, three performances.

For the first time since her association with Mr. Oscar Hammerstein's Manhattan Grand Opera Company, has Miss Thayer been given the opportunity to display her fine vocal and dramatic equipment, as "The Firefly" has a real plot with a coherent story, and Mr. Friml having allotted eight songs to her, it gives Miss Thayer every chance to come into her own. Mr. Arthur Hammerstein, who is the man behind the production, has selected a supporting cast with his accustomed care. The company numbers 60 and there will be an augmented orchestra of 20.

DEATHS

Mr. W. B. Oldham, a prominent retired farmer of Fayette county, dropped dead Thursday morning while talking to a number of friends. Mr. Oldham was sixty years of age and was related to the Oldham families of this and Montgomery county.

Mr. J. C. George received a telegram Friday afternoon announcing the sudden death of his brother, Mr. Adam George, in Lexington, that afternoon. Deceased was 65 years of age and was apparently in good health up until the final summons came. Mr. J. C. George left immediately for Lexington, where he remained until after the funeral on Saturday.

Mrs. Sidney Vaughn died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, at Union, Tuesday evening, after a protracted illness from tuberculosis. She was eighteen years of age and had been married about eighteen months. She was exceedingly popular with a large circle of friends, which fact was attested by the large concourse that attended her funeral and burial. In addition to her parents she is survived by her husband, all of whom have the tenderest sympathy of a host of friends and acquaintances. Funeral services were conducted at the residence Thursday by Rev. W. S. Taylor, followed by interment in Richmond Cemetery.

Announcement.

The Kentucky Utilities Company wish to announce that in accordance with their customary broad policy of "Customers First" that the usual low prices on all things electrical will prevail during the year Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen. For your information they wish to state that this includes electric irons, grills, coffee percolators, toasters, vacuum cleaners, lamps, (Mazda, and others) fans, motors, etc.

The Company's District Manager invites criticism of service rendered, all such complaints receiving careful and prompt consideration at all times.

Coming To Normal.

To meet the demands of many students, a new department has been established at the Normal School. There have been numerous requests from students for private instruction in voice culture, and after considering the applications of about sixty experienced teachers, President Crabbe and Professor Koch have selected Miss Lella Ellen McKee as the best qualified and most highly trained musician to undertake the work.

Miss McKee will not only teach voice but also violin and piano, and is equally superior in each. She has studied under the best masters and has had considerable experience as a teacher.

She comes from one of the best families of Danville. Her grandfather, Dr. J. L. McKee, was for a number of years associated with Central University. Many of our older residents will recollect her uncle, J. Lapsley McKee, who was at one time pastor of the Second Presbyterian church here. Her father, Rev. S. L. McKee, was a Presbyterian minister in the eastern part of the State. Her aunt, Miss Lella McKee, was President of Western College, at Oxford, Ohio, for sixteen years.

Miss McKee studied violin under Henry Froelich, of Cincinnati and under Fritz Litz, first violinist of the Theodore Thomas Orchestra, of Chicago. She studied piano under Miss Augusta Porter, of Western College, and under Mrs. Stillman-Kelley, of Cincinnati. She also had a splendid training in voice at the Cosmopolitan School of Music and Dramatic Art, of Chicago, and took ensemble with Henry Eames and Dr. William Carver Williams. Her technique on both piano and violin is remarkably well developed. Her voice is a very pure, sweet lyric soprano of high compass.

As she is a young lady of great culture and refinement and of charming personality, the school is to be congratulated on having secured her splendid services, and Richmond is fortunate in having such an accomplished musician as a permanent member of the music fraternity.

We have arranged for a Special Sale

On the celebrated Stearns & Foster Mattress and are offering this most Comfortable, Durable and Sanitary of all Mattresses, in selected patterns of the best qualities of Satin-finish, Dust-proof Tickings—WITHOUT EXTRA CHARGE.

Beware of so-called "Special Sales" on "Cotton-felt" or "Felt" Mattresses—said to be the "genuine kind" and offered at such ridiculously low prices as are sometimes seen displayed. You do not know WHAT sort of material has been hastily STUFFED into the ticking. From a Sanitary standpoint, it may be vile; unfit for any person to sleep upon. As for genuine Comfort and Durability, such Mattresses are utterly worthless. It don't pay to buy them.

Stearns & Foster Mattresses have a laced opening (Pat. applied for) through which you can see and examine the inside of the Mattress you GET. That's the safe way to buy a Mattress. You know what you are getting.

Stearns & Foster Mattresses are made of Clean, Sanitary Cotton; felted into hundreds of little webs forming many Springy, Buoyant layers standing nearly three feet high. These layers are then LAID BY HAND and compressed to ONE-SIXTH their original height and encased in the ticking; then tufted to just the proper tension so as to be Soft, yet Firm, half yielding to your figure, but supporting it in perfect relaxation.

You will say—

"I never Knew a Mattress could be so Comfortable."

That's just what satisfied users of Stearns & Foster Mattresses are saying.

You owe it to yourself to get one and enjoy rest that is Refreshing—Comfortable—Healthful.

You don't have to be put to the expense and inconvenience of sending a Stearns & Foster Mattress away to be "Made Over" or "Renovated." They never require it. An occasional Sun Bath keeps them fresh and clean.

Don't Fail to attend this Sale. Come today.

Select the Mattress you want—NOW. Don't put up longer with that old uncomfortable Mattress.

A Comfortable Night's Rest on a Stearns & Foster, Costs too Little.

We'll give you a POSITIVE GUARANTEE on every Mattress bearing the Stearns & Foster name.

CHANGE OF FIRM.

Long And Honorable Career Of Well Known Business House.

Mr. R. C. H. Covington has bought the interest of his partner, the late Ben Banks, in the firm of Covington & Banks, the Main street dealers in clothing and gents' furnishings in all its various branches, and will continue the business at the same stand. Mr. Covington began business in the same house more than 25 years ago. In Jan'y, 1888, he and Mr. E. E. Mitchell, under the firm name of Covington & Mitchell, founded the business. Four years later, in the fall of 1892, Mr. Mitchell disposed of his interest to Mr. Covington and went West. Returning in Jan., 1894, he repurchased the interest he had sold to Mr. Covington. The firm then continued as Covington & Mitchell until the death of the latter, Dec. 2, 1899. After winding up the business of the firm, Mr. Covington again took over the Mitchell interest and on Jan. 1, 1901, sold half interest to Ben L. Banks and the firm became Covington & Banks and so remained until Monday last, when Mr. Covington bought from the Banks heirs their interest and again became sole owner. In the 25 years Mr. Covington has always been the head of the house and shaped its business policy. His policy has always been to keep a complete stock in every department and to sell as low as consistent with good business judgment. The idea being large sales and small profits, rather than small sales and large profits. One feature he has always insisted upon has been "low price," no hawking, no cutting, except when a "cut" sale was put on and duly advertised, the humblest and the most influential man in the county being treated exactly alike. The most inexperienced clerk was authorized to sell at just the same price as the proprietor. Mr. Covington is a firm believer in "printer's ink" and has always advertised extensively and judiciously and with telling effect. The house has always done a fine business, the year just closed having been the best in its history. The new firm will incorporate under the name of The R. C. H. Covington Co. All the young men in the house will take such amount of stock as they are able to carry. Mr. Covington allowing them to pay for same out of their earnings, just as they are able. Mr. Covington has always encouraged young men in economical, moral and business habits and this move is in line with his idea of good citizenship and help to his fellowman.

The Climax begs leave to extend best wishes to its old friend of 30 years' standing—Mr. R. C. H. Covington.

Business Men's Club.

The regular meeting of the Business Men's Club was held at the court house on Tuesday night, February 3. It was an open meeting and many of our enterprising citizens not members of the Club, were present and took part in the discussions. Meeting was called to order by President C. F. Higgins, who stated that the principal business to be attended to was the discussion of the freight rates into and out of Richmond as compared with neighboring towns and towns similarly situated. Judge Jennings Greenleaf presented the conditions as his committee had found them, and stated that it had been the custom and the wisest policy of other towns in going into this matter to employ a rate expert, who was capable of producing and making exhibits of comparison rates. Mr. J. Henry Ramsey, representing the Louisville Traffic Bureau, was then introduced and he made it very plain that Richmond was being discriminated against as compared with rates to other points. He said the rates as a general rule had been in effect since 1886, which is 28 years, and that they would remain in effect another 28 years unless the Business Men of town took the matter up, as it was the policy of the Railroad Company to give consideration only when compelled to, and said that it was perfectly natural for the Railroad Company to keep the high rates in effect as long as that could be felt. Cooperation on the part of the freight paying people of a community was necessary to bring this matter before the Inter-State Commerce Commission. To do this, it will take some money, and the committee in charge of this work of Club has decided that the appropriation plan is the best way. They will meet and try to lay out a plan so as to make it as light as possible on all and as near equitable as possible. When this committee calls on you, do your part by paying them the amount they feel like you should pay, and if this rate reduction is carried through as successfully as it has been at other places, the little amount the committee will ask you for, will be saved in a few months time. What other matters do you know of where you can get such big returns for such a small amount? Don't say, "What are you people doing in the Club?" but say, "I am for Richmond. I know it takes money to get the desired results, and I am in my part, and here is my check with best wishes, and if you need more, let me know." With a spirit like this, Richmond can be made a bigger and better city and you will reap great benefits.

Tobacco Sales Will Close.

We are officially informed that all three of our tobacco warehouses, the Madison, the Farmers and the Home will close sales for this season on Friday, February 27. If you have any tobacco unsold bring it in at once to the house of your choice. Prior to this date and our word for it, you will get as much for it as in any market in the State.

Killed In Texas.

Mr. Alex Overly, of Sherman, Texas, was killed at Fort Worth in a wreck of a freight train of which he was engineer, caused by the spreading of the rails. The fireman and a brakeman were also instantly killed. Mr. Overly formerly lived near Paint Lick and was the son of Jas. H. Overly, now of Hamilton, Ohio. Deceased is survived by his father, two brothers, a sister, wife and five children.

Glad To Know It.

The announcement of the marriage of Mr. Thos. Sale and Mrs. Ed W. Powell was noted in last week's Climax. We had feared that Mr. and Mrs. Sale would remove to the former home of Mr. Sale, in the Lone Star State and that Madison would lose two good citizens. But are glad to know they will reside in this county, where they both have many friends.

Winkler Acquitted.

Sidney Winkler, who was indicted at the October term of Circuit Court on the charge of killing Wade Reeves, was acquitted last week. The jury found that Reeves was the aggressor when Winkler stabbed him. The jury in the case was out only a few minutes.

TO OUR FRIENDS:-

The Madison Tobacco Warehouse has just closed another successful week, selling nearly 350,000 pounds, with prices ranging from 2c to 30c. Good tobacco is scarce, but when shown demands attention and brings excellent prices, while the low grades have never been higher than at present. We want to ask those who have tobacco left that they get it to market just as soon as they can—while prices are good. While we expect a steady to strong market, though, it is best to sell when you know the market is good. During the last week some of the best averages were as follows: W. C. Ross sold 1,125 pounds, average $15 per hundred, one basket bringing $30 per hundred. Tudor and Moberly sold 3,905 pounds, averaging $15.99 per hundred. Minter and Chamberlain sold 8,890 pounds at a general average of $14.90, while over two thirds of the crop averaged $17. Tips, frozen and damaged often keep the general average low, even for an excellent crop. Price Williams sold 805 pounds, averaging $16.50. Haden Brothers sold 1,005 pounds, averaging $17.85. Rose and Vanarsdale sold 2,770 pounds for $143.52. You will remember that our market is stronger now and has been this year throughout, than it has ever been with us, quality of tobacco considered. And we know that our buyers expect to keep this market right up to the best in the country till we close. A CLERGYMAN'S STORY Came Near Losing His Life—How He Escaped

The following letter was received by The Peruna Co., from Rev. G. W. Roberts, R. 2, Box 27, Hartsell, Ala., under date of April 2, 1904, which is exactly nine years ago. He says: "I take pleasure in informing you of what your Peruna has done for me after three years of suffering. I had tried the treatments of several doctors, also home remedies, but they failed and all hope had gone. My friends, like myself, thought I was in the last stages of consumption. "My daughter brought me a bottle of Peruna and I tried it. I took it for a week and I thought it no use. That was in May, 1902. I began to take it, according to directions. I wrote to you, and you gave me your kind advice. "I soon felt better, my cough began to give way, and the expectation lessened. I have taken fourteen bottles. I feel well, eat hearty, sleep soundly, weigh as much as I ever did, and attend to my other business. My friends seem astonished at my recovery. "I wish to thank you for your kind advice and the books you have sent me. I shall ever praise your medicine and hope that you may enjoy a long life." It will be observed that Rev. Roberts waited two years after he began to use Peruna, before he wrote the above letter to The Peruna Co. So that his apparent recovery could not possibly have been temporary relief. In a later letter to The Peruna Co., dated September 22, 1904, Rev. Roberts says: "I am a great friend of Peruna. By the use of Dr. Hartman's advice I am here to-day, able to be with my family and attend to my business."

We quote from another letter, dated December 10, 1906: "I praise Peruna to all the sick. The people know my case, and they praise it also." In a letter dated November 22, 1905, we quote Rev. Roberts: "Peruna gave me back my life ten years ago. All my acquaintances know that. I am certainly thankful to you for your kindness." In a later letter, dated January 13, 1910, he says: "I shall ever in the future, as in the past, be ready to speak in praise of Peruna to all sufferers. I believe my miraculous cure has been the means of many others being cured in this county." From a letter of September 5, 1911, we quote a few words: "I am still among the living. As to Peruna, I do not feel that I have words to express the faith I have in its merits. I feel that Peruna has been the means, through the kind providence of God, of prolonging my life for more than ten years." We quote a still later letter, October 31, 1912. He says: "I took a severe cold three weeks ago. I at once sent for Peruna. Have been taking it two weeks. I am now better. I consider that Peruna has carried me over a dozen years of life. I always stand ready to answer any question in reference to Peruna." We quote from his last letter, dated January 2, 1913: "Dear friends: I wish this bright New Year to express my thanks to you for your kindness. Trusting that you may have a successful and happy year, and that your medicine may prove a blessing to many as it has to me, I am yours as ever, G. W. Roberts, Hartsell, Alabama, R. F. D. 2, Box 27." It is not necessary for us to add any words to this story. The eloquence and pathos of these letters are more convincing than arguments or affidavits. Who can doubt the clergyman's story? Who can doubt that Peruna saved his life? Every home should be provided with the last edition of the "Bills of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

If We Only Understood.

If we knew the care and trials, Knew the efforts all in vain, And the bitter disappointment, Understood the loss and gain, Would the grim eternal roughness Seem, I wonder, just the same? Should we help where now we hinder? Should we pity where we blame?

Ah! we judge each other harshly, Knowing not life's hidden force, Knowing not the fount of action Is less turbid at its source; Seeing not amid the evil All the golden grains of good; And we'd love each other better If we only understood.

Could we judge all deeds by motives That surround each other's lives, See the naked heart and spirit, Know what spur the action gives, Often we would find it better, Purer than we judge we should; We should love each other better If we only understood.

—Rudyard Kipling.

Work For The Editor.

It is said that any one can be an editor. All an editor has to do is sit at his desk six days in the week, four weeks of the month and twelve months of the year and edit such stuff as this:

"Mrs. Jones of Lost Creek, let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."

"A mischievous lad of Matherton threw a stone and struck a companion in the alley last Tuesday."

"John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak, and fell, striking himself on the back porch."

"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise home from a church social Saturday night, a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square."

"Mr. White, while harnessing a broncho last Saturday, was kicked just south of the corncob."—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

Why He Is Prosperous.

The Breckinridge News speaks of a prosperous young farmer near Rosetta, who has a small farm well stocked with cattle and hogs. It was unnecessary to say that he is prosperous. Any farmer who has his farm well stocked with cattle and hogs is prosperous. It's the man who raises tobacco and buys hogs and cattle for his food supplies that is poor, and there is no hope of his being otherwise than poor so long as he continues his single crop farming. There is not enough money in tobacco for it to provide all the necessities of a family, it matters not how economical they may live. There is not a good market every year for tobacco, and when there is, it is for a few months only. There is a market every day in the week throughout the entire year for cattle and hogs. There is good money in hay, corn and other crops.

The Successful Man.

There is no discredit in being a shoemaker, but there is in making a bad shoe. To the great man work is as necessary as breathing and eating. It is only the lazy who pretend to have a contempt for fame or riches. Men who are made for success do not wait for somebody to help them, they help themselves. They do not wait for opportunities; they make them. There is no success for the idle, the coward, the unprepared, the impractical, and those who do not think it worth while to improve their minds.—Dr. Bernard Hollander.

Fight In Garrard May End Fatally.

A difficulty took place in Lower Garrard, near the home of Thomas Doolin, the participants being Richard Spivy and Bryan Dyehouse, the former stabbing the latter with a pocketknife. Geo. A. Ballard and Chief of Police Luther Herron went to the scene of the difficulty and arrested Spivy, who made no resistance, and was taken to Lancaster and lodged in jail.

Kentucky Judge Believes In Saving Drinkers.

Just about a year ago, there came to the Neal Institute a typical Kentucky Mountaineer—a judge of the courts in that hill country. For years he had been a hard drinker. Listening to his story at the Neal Institute the other night brought keenest satisfaction for work well done.

"Drink and I got along together for over twenty years," said he, "but it had me, and I realized that if I didn't quit my life would end in a couple of weeks. I just couldn't stop myself. And so I came here to the Neal Institute. Drink and I have fallen out. No more for me—not if I live to be a million. Nobody has greater sympathy for the fellow who drinks and can't stop than I have, because I KNOW."

Since his return to his mountain home this Kentucky Magistrate has sent five of "the boys" to take the Neal Treatment. His mission last week was to personally bring the fifth drink victim—a man so near "the finish" that he hadn't money to make the trip or take the treatment. So this good Judge was one of three who paid the bill.

Take Neal Treatment Himself, Has Sent Five Others To Neal Institutes and Thinks County Should Act.

"I may never get a dollar back," said the judge, "but I've got a feeling (and he tapped his breast) that I've at least saved one good fellow for his wife and children."

"I may never get a dollar back," continued this Modern Good Samaritan before he started home, "but I'm going to make a fight with the authorities to have our habitual drinkers sent to the Neal Institute instead of to jail. The county couldn't get better returns on its money. My plan will save the men. The old way is a dead loss, because when you punish a drinker, you don't take his appetite away from him. He gets out and then goes right back and starts drinking again. Why? That's a question my good wife used to ask me, and I could only answer, 'Because.' Until I took the Neal Treatment, I couldn't do anything until I was 'braced up' by whisky. Thank God, I've broken away from the old stuff forever."

Three days of the Neal Treatment, a harmless vegetable remedy taken by the mouth with no dangerous hypodermic injections, will change craving desire for liquor into intense dislike for everything alcoholic. Investigate or ask your physician to investigate. For booklet write or phone the Neal Institute, 601 Maple Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio. Telephone Avon 4020. COUGH TWO YEARS OLD Yields to Vinol. Read Why.

Strong vigorous men and women hardly ever catch cold; it's only when the system is run down and vitality low that colds and coughs get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cough is to build up your run down condition again?

Mrs. D. A. McGee of Waycross, Ga., says: "I had a chronic cold and cough which kept me awake nights for two years and I felt tired all the time. Vinol cured my cough and I feel stronger in every way."

The reason Vinol is so efficacious in such cases is because it contains in a delicious concentrated form all the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood building from added.

Chronic coughs and colds yield to Vinol because it builds up the weakened, run-down system.

You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not do all we say.

All About Alexander.

The Mahan Nationalist doesn't tell where it found this: "There was a chap who owned a store and often wished it grander; he sold his goods to all who came; his name was Alexander. He mixed the goods with cunning hand (he was a skilful blender), and since his sugar was half sand, they called him Alexander. He had a sweetheart (pretty maid); admiringly he scanned her, and asked if she'd change her name; a ring did Alex hand her. 'Oh, yes,' she said, and sweetly smiled, 'if I can be commander.' And thus they formed a partnership; firm name was Alex & Her."

Big Hemp Crop in Garrard County.

Mr. James B. House, of near Lancaster, is delivering to the local dealers, Hudson & Hughes, of Lancaster, his 1913 crop of hemp. The lint product was grown on sixty acres of what was known as the Beazley Bros. farm within about two miles of Lancaster, and turned out about 900 hundred pounds to the acre, for which the grower received $6.50 per hundred. Mr. House, the champion hemp raiser of that county, has already rented sixty-four acres to go in hemp this coming season, and will probably cultivate even a larger acreage.

Mat S. Cohen is being highly endorsed as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture. He is a wide-awake hustler and looks like a certain winner.—Danville Advocate.

Fewer Lynchings.

During the year ending December 31, 1913, there were 51 lynchings in the United States. At the same period a year ago 64 lynchings had occurred, a decrease of 13 for the past year. This is the smallest number in any year since these grim records have been kept.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY BELONGS TO SOUTH

SAYS PRESIDENT HARRISON OF SOUTHERN IN FIRST PUBLIC ADDRESS.

MONEY REMAINS IN SOUTH

New President of Southern Analyzes Intimate Relation of Company to People Served.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Speaking at the annual banquet of the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Fairfax Harrison, the new president of the Southern Railway company, made what may be considered his first public declaration, since his election to succeed the late Mr. W. W. Finley.

Fairfax Harrison, President Southern Railway

perform public services, in return for which more than one hundred millions of annual revenue is collected. These are big figures and, in a country in which there has always been a pride in big things, in which every community has been wont to boast of that which it has which is the biggest, such a big thing as the Southern Railway system should be, and I believe is, a source of pride to the South, but exactly in proportion as it is big also in its public service and faithful in its public trust. The administration of such a vast machine, affecting, as it does, the comfort and well being of the people of a large territory, is, therefore, itself a large public service. The time has passed when it might be exploited for merely private and selfish ends. The lawyers used to tell us that a railroad was a quasi-public institution, but today, happily, it might better be described as a quasi-private institution. It is private still in the opportunity it presents for the exercise of individual initiative and competitive service, but in practically every other sense it is now recognized that it is public.

It is a matter of sincere regret to every railroad manager that railroad securities are not more generally held, directly and immediately, in the communities which the railroads serve. The lack of such holding deprives him of a powerful and sympathetic ally in the relation of public opinion to his problems. The time was when the railroad stocks were owned immediately at home, and by the people who were most influential in shaping public opinion, but today, while railroad stocks are generally held by the same kind of people—by those who, through the exercise of prudence, industry and courage have laid by a competence, and by the women and children for whom they worked—such investors now do not as a class reside in the territories in which they have made their investments. The explanation of this phenomenon—so well known to us all, but still a phenomenon—is part of the financial history of the United States, but the fact has given rise to a feeling among many of those who use the railroads daily and come into immediate contact with their managements, that the railroads belong to some mysterious, remote and foreign power, to responsible potentates, who bear, in popular imagination, the generic name of "Wall Street." We read in magazines and newspapers of the romantic tales attributed to a few individuals who are supposed to "control" the destinies of whole communities by possession and exploitation of the instruments upon which such communities depend for their necessary transportation, who "fix" rates and arbitrarily determine conditions of service, and so "tax" the people they ought to serve, withdrawing money earned in the sweat of the brow from the communities where it is earned, to be dissipated at a distance in extravagant follies. Such a vision is not the result of pure imagination—it has had unfortunately its foundation of justification in a few conspicuous instances which leap to the lips of everyone who discusses our present-day industrial problems; but every intelligent man knows that it is no longer, if it ever was, the rule.

In considering such lamentable individual cases, the public, when forming its potent judgment on the present situation of the railway industry, must recognize them as the unhappy exceptions they are. To him who insists that the railroads should be judged by their black sheep, it is fair in answer to invite attention to many exemplars of high-minded integrity in the administration of railroad property. We in the South can cite shining examples of such rectitude. I may be forgiven a proud reference to my late chief, William Wilson Finley, whose opportunities were not less than those of any of the prominent individuals to whom allusion has been made, but who after years of devotion to a public duty and the practice of a large private charity, left an estate the amount of which, as announced in the public press, is at once a certificate of candid character and an illustration of just administration. One who knew them can add to the same roll of honor two more executives of railroads in the South who have recently gone to the grave—Thomas M. Emerson and John W. Thomas, Jr.

Despite the holding of railroad stock outside of the territories the railroads serve, and despite the aberrations from integrity in the administration of some particular railroads, I believe that I am not claiming too much when I assert that such has been the development of the recognition in recent years of the public nature and responsibility of the administration of the railroads, and such have been the practical consequences of that recognition, that today in every essential a railroad belongs to the communities it serves.

In this aspect and in a very real sense the Southern Railroad belongs to the people of the South. It is not only their highway to market, but its fiscal operations are part of the life of the communities along its lines.

At some risk of trespass upon your attention, I venture to support this claim with a brief argument from statistics. They record a condition which is astonishing and I confess astonishing when I saw how far they go along the lines of a tendency which I knew to obtain. Of the one hundred and three millions of annual revenue collected last year by the railways included in the Southern Railway System, there was immediately paid out again along its lines at least seventy-six millions, an amount not far short of the total collections from the people of the South; for approximately twenty-two millions of the total revenues were collected from people outside of the Southeastern States—a fact not often taken into consideration, the explanation of which is that an appreciable part of the passenger traffic of the system consists of the transportation of residents of other localities traveling in the South, and, furthermore, that to a large extent freight charges on Southern products shipped to other localities are paid by the consignees.

What then becomes of these great revenues collected in the South? Are they hurried away to some cavern in Wall street? No. The fact is that all the moneys collected in the South are deposited in Southern banks which are drawn upon from time to time only as funds are needed for proper fiscal purposes. The funds of the system thus become an important factor in strengthening the banks of the territory and so are at all times at the service of the Southern people.

I have said that these funds are withdrawn from Southern banks from time to time only as needed for proper fiscal purposes, but even in that operation, to a large extent, the moneys collected for transportation service on our lines are not withdrawn at all from the Southern communities in which they are collected. This can be demonstrated by an analysis of Southern Railway expenditures for the last fiscal year. Such analysis shows that, of every dollar disbursed, 41.71 cents went to the payment of wages, substantially all of which are paid along the line of the road, and so remain in Southern banks, a disbursement which, for the Southern Railway proper, averages about two million dollars a month. The purchase of materials and supplies used 23.30 cents, and, under our policy of buying as far as practicable from Southern people, 19.12 cents of this was expended in the South and only 4.18 cents in other localities. Miscellaneous operating expenses required 6.09 cents, all spent in the South. Taxes, all paid in the South, required 3.65 cents. Interest, rentals and other miscellaneous payments accounted for 20.83 cents, and the holders of the company's preferred stock received 4.42 cents. It is unfortunately impracticable to determine the proportion of interest and dividends paid to Southern owners of Southern Railway securities. I wish it was all paid to Southern people; but, leaving these entirely out of account, it is seen that at least 70.57 cents out of every dollar expended by the Southern Railway remains in or is brought into the South. It may be added that these figures do not take account of expenditures for additions and betterments amounting last year to three millions and a half and in ten years to twenty-seven millions of which the major part, expended on roadway and structures, was practically all paid out along the line of the road. We may then take it as established that what the Southern people pay the Southern Railway lines for transportation remains a part of the working capital of the Southern people; but it is interesting to pursue the thought a step further to a realization of what these disbursements by the Southern Railway in the South mean in the life and growth of the Southern people. Of the total of seventy-six millions paid out along the Southern Railway lines last year approximately forty-three million dollars went to the army of 59,000 employees and thus, on the conventional basis of five to a family, directly supported about 295,000 Southern people, or about six and one-half times the population of Chattanooga at the date of the last census.

I have spoken of our preferred stockholders, but the real preferred stockholders of the Southern Railway System, in the major of priority of claim, are the political governments of the States, counties and cities along its lines. Their claim upon railroad revenues comes ahead even of that of employees, and they took $3,743,704.39 in the last fiscal year. It is hard to grasp the significance of figures as large as this: what our tax payments really mean to the communities along our lines can be better understood by an illustrative analysis of our payments on account of school taxes and road and bridge taxes in the southern states. In 1912, our school taxes in these states amounted to something over $800,000, or an average of twenty-eight hundred dollars for each county traversed by our lines. At the average annual compensation of school teachers in the Southern States as reported by the United States Bureau of Education, this would more than pay for ten teachers in each county. It represents $2.64 out of every $100 of school taxes paid in these States and amounts to fifteen dollars for each school building in the States traversed by our lines. Every dollar paid to the Southern Railway for transportation charges thus includes a substantial contribution to the maintenance of the system of public education in the South.

Payments by the Southern Railway System in the same year of taxes directly assessed for public roads and bridges amounted to $447,966.63, or an average of $1,571.81 for each county along our lines. Every dollar paid to the Southern Railway for transportation charges thus includes also a substantial contribution to the maintenance of the public highways of the South and is an indirect but none the less real public support of the progressive movement for good and better roads.

I have referred to the impracticability of determining the amounts of interest and dividends paid to holders of securities living along the line of the road. We know, however, that a large percentage of our population have a very real though indirect personal interest in these securities even though they may never have seen a railroad bond or stock certificate. There are few families in the South who do not hold an insurance policy of some sort; either an assurance on life or against the risk of fire. The invested funds of the great insurance companies are, therefore, matter of vital concern to the Southern people, and in large measure, are their own assets held in trust for their benefit. We find that the chief insurance companies report their holding of securities of the Southern Railway System, including terminal bonds on which the Southern is a joint guarantor, aggregating more than eighty million dollars. In that great fund, the integrity of which depends upon the continued solvency of the Southern Railway lines, the Southern people have a vital proprietary interest, an interest which, as they realize it, should be to them a constant spur to protect themselves by maintaining, as they can and will, the basis of Southern Railway credit.

I assert with confidence that the facts to which I have called your attention are full warrant for the claim that in a very real sense the Southern Railway belongs to the people of the South; so much so that its annual reports might more properly be addressed "To the People of the South" to advise you of the results of the management of your property, for today it belongs more to you than it does to the stockholders. More than this, its management is and always has been devoted to the interests of the South. Its officers are mostly Southern-born men and those who were not born in the South have been here long enough to become identified with our interests, our peculiarities, our responsibilities, our prejudices, and our aspirations as a people; they talk the same language as the people of the South. I look forward to the time when there may be more Southern men sitting on our Board of Directors, where I know that they will be welcome.

As an organization, however, the Southern Railway, with full appreciation of, and acquiescence in, the present tendency of public sentiment as to what a railway is and should be, stands pledged to the Southern people, and is proud to declare itself one of their own institutions. As such it invites the Southern people to help it to become more and more their efficient servant and at the same time the object of their pride and affection. They need have no fear of its future if it has their confidence.

I trust you will permit me to take this occasion to say finally a word of a personal nature: I believe in the South and our Southern people with all my heart and soul. I have given most of the years of my manhood to an earnest, though subordinate, part in an effort to realize a high purpose of promoting the regeneration through industry, of the prosperity of this our beloved motherland. I have not known in my own experience the horrors either of the military conflict which left our people prostrate, or of the dreary years of political disability and atrophied ambition which followed that great war between the States, in one of the chief theaters of which we are tonight, but I know the bitterness of these things in the tradition of my immediate family, and I have learned from my parents that there can be no higher aspiration than to be a part in the realization of the ideals of our Southern people. Facing the future, I have then dedicated my life to that duty and to identification with the Southern people. Many others have done and are doing this and I am proud to be of the company which has accomplished, through co-operation and sustained effort, so much in the last quarter of a century.

I am humbly grateful for the welcome the South has given me to my new opportunity for its service. It has been such a welcome as you have given me tonight, cordial and with every evidence of good will. My hope is to justify this to those who allow me their confidence, who are willing to believe that if we sometimes fail it will not be through lack of good intention or desire to do our duty as we conceive it. I have no sense of personal elation in the realization today of an ambition cherished ever since I entered the service of the Southern Railway Company 17 years ago. I feel most a sobering sense of a heavy responsibility, but I do not fear the event. I have served under two great men, Samuel Spencer, and William Wilson Finley, both men of action, eager to accomplish, conscious always of the imperious summons of today, and of the warning of Ecclesiastes: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." I have known that before all they were patriotic men, faithful to the South and before me my hope now is so to carry on their work as to gain the kind of public esteem they earned and to aid in building for the future, as they built, not only the Southern Railway, but the South itself. In this high endeavor, I am one of you, my fellow countrymen, who are similarly engaged, and I appeal to you as co-workers for aid and co-operation.

Feel Miserable.

Out of sorts, depressed, pain in the back—Electric Bitters renews your health and strength. A guaranteed Liver and Kidney remedy. Money back if not satisfied. How to Prevent The Tobacco Spittworm.

Transplant the tobacco crop as early as possible in order to mature it before the appearance of the most destructive generation of the tobacco spittworm, advises bulletin No. 59 of the Department of Agriculture, in making recommendation for the control of this worm. When the early infection is very severe, prime off and destroy the infected leaves; destroy all tobacco stubble as soon as the crop is harvested to prevent the breeding of a hibernating generation; clean up and destroy all trash in and around fields and tobacco barns; do not follow potatoes by tobacco if the infection of tobacco has been more severe in such cases than where different rotation was followed; grow potatoes as far as possible from tobacco fields.

In Cuba and the United States the spittworm is known on tobacco as a leaf miner only. Only the older tobacco leaves are affected, unless the infection is very severe; and in these, the lower leaves, grayish, irregular blotches are produced, which later turn brown and become fragile so that the tobacco is unfit for wrappers. At Clarksville, Tenn., where the infection is very slight, the larva in most cases begins work in the "ruft" along the midrib and they afterwards migrate and form mines in various parts of the leaf.

Use Parisian Sage
If your hair is getting thin, losing its natural color, or has that matted, lifeless and scraggy appearance, the reason is evident—dandruff and failure to keep the hair properly nourished.

Parisian Sage applied daily for a week and then occasionally is all that is needed. It removes dandruff with one application; almost immediately stops falling hair and itching head; invigorates the scalp and makes dull, stringy hair soft, abundant and radiant with life. Equally good for men, women or children—everyone needs it.

A large bottle of this delightful hair tonic can be had at Perry's Drug Store or any drug counter for 50 cents. You will like Parisian Sage. There is no other "just as good."—Try it now. 26-21

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when curing it by the use of the surface. Such pills should never be used except on prescription from a reputable physician, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by V. J. Chase & Co., Toledo, O., is a purely internal remedy, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by V. J. Chase & Co., Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle. Makes Old People Strong and Well.

We want to get the news to all old people about Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion, a remarkable new food-medicine which we firmly believe is the best remedy ever made to overcome the weakening, debilitating effects of increasing old age. It helps to rebuild wasted tissues, strengthen the nerves, and give new energy and a lively feeling to the body. It contains no alcohol or dangerous drug. It may not make you feel better for a few days, but if you do not feel much better and stronger before you have taken a quarter as much as you have of other medicines that have not helped you, we will gladly give back your money.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion contains pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites which, though they have long been endorsed by successful physicians, are new for the first time combined. The result is a real body, nerve and blood-building, food-medicine that we believe is superior to anything else in overcoming debility, weakness and liability to disease, and to tone and strengthen the nerves and enrich the blood. You who are weak and run-down—who are often troubled by various cold weather ailments, use Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. It is a sensible, pleasant-tasting aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health. If it doesn't help you, come and tell us and we will give back your money without a word. That is how much faith we have in it. Sold only at 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00.—Perry's Drug Store, West Main street, Richmond, Ky. adv

Story of The Contented Farmer.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside a contributor tells, as follows, about a farmer who comes as near being a contented farmer as anyone he knows. Following is an extract:

"In south central New Hampshire, lives a farmer, his wife and three children, who are the nearest to being absolutely contented that we have yet discovered. We will not call them by name, but it is a real family and we have known them long and well enough to be sure of our ground in saying they are contented."

"The head of the family was formerly a storekeeper in a small town, later a carpenter, and for the last fifteen years has farmed. He and his wife are in a ripe middle age. The son, who married three years ago, lives in the next house, helps run the farm, and is still considered one of the family. There are two young unmarried daughters—one teaching in a nearby school, and the other helping with the household work. No hired men are kept to break up the family circle, though outside help is sometimes hired by the day."

"The wife is a woman of high ideals and refined tastes. The house reflects her personality. It is comfortably but not expensively furnished. The meals in such a home are of course good. Running spring water is provided in the kitchen. The living room contains a piano and a phonograph. The son plays the violin, both daughters play the piano, and the father is an expert with the phonograph. He can put his hand on any of the two hundred and fifty records in his musical library. All the family have good voices, and use them. The head of the house enjoys an evening or two a week over the checker-board and plays a strong game."

"But they don't want to move. They want to stay where they are. They could succeed anywhere, but they aren't anxious to try. The air is good, the water is good, and this farm agrees with one pretty well, says this man, 'and, besides, I have plenty of elbow room. I'll live here as long as I live and then I'll be buried here.'"

BIG DEMAND FOR EGGS

Call Is Growing Faster Than Supply in All States.

Freshness in the Sense of High Quality Is Quickly Determined by Process Known as "Candling"—Candle Is Easy to Make.

In eggs and poultry we have an agricultural product of enormous money value, considered either individually or by comparison with our other agricultural productions. About 89 per cent. of our farmers raise chickens; hence eggs may be said to be a universal food, as well as a food of high nutritive value. The output of eggs is steadily growing, but the demand is growing even faster than the supply, due to the increased price of meat, as well as a preference for eggs as food.

Though the production of eggs is so widespread, only eleven states produce more than are consumed within their own borders, and this production does not cover the entire year, but only those months when climatic conditions are favorable to laying. If one considers the number of months each year when climatic conditions preclude egg production almost entirely over much of our egg-producing territory, it is plain that some provision for these months of scarcity must be made from the season of plenty if eggs are to appear the year round on the tables of any except wealthy people. Therefore we must study and work for increased egg production.

Let us see what sorts of eggs are found on our markets. Here are rotten, broken, cracked, dirty, stale and shrunken eggs, and last—unfortunately many times least—are the fresh, sound, clean eggs, which the market calls "firsts." The causes contributing to this list of undesirable and loss-producing grades are mainly three: (1) Climatic conditions; (2) careless or deliberately bad marketing; (3) poor care of the poultry on the farm. Eggs are graded for market according to size, freedom from dirt and cracks, and freshness.

Size, cleanliness, cracks and color may be readily determined by inspection. Freshness, in the sense of a high-quality, firm-bodied egg, is determined by a process known as "candling." The egg candle consists of a bright light, protected on all sides by an opaque shield in which are one or two oval holes a little smaller than the egg. The eggs are firmly pressed against these holes and, as the light shines through, the yolk and white may be seen, as well as the air space at the large end of the egg and any foreign bodies that may be present.

An egg which has just been laid and is still warm, entirely fills the shell. But as it cools to the temperature of the air it contracts, leaving a small space at the large end of the egg empty. As the egg ages this space increases in size, due to the escape of moisture from the egg through its shell. When the air space becomes pronounced—it may in extreme cases occupy almost half the shell—the egg is known as "shrunken." The size of the air spaces is determined by candling.

A fresh egg, held before the candle, shows the yolk but faintly as a redish ball in the center of the shell. As the egg ages the position and opacity of the yolk change; it becomes freely movable, perhaps rising, perhaps falling, in the shell and acquiring sharper outlines.

The Ideal Gander.

Richardson, a former English authority, said the ideal gander has large dimensions, active gait, lively and clear eyes, an every-ready and hoarse voice, and a demeanor of full boldness. The goose should be chosen for her weight of body, steadiness of deportment, and breadth of foot—a quality said to indicate the presence of other excellencies.

Digestive Stimulants.

Ginger, if fed poultry for too long a time, is apt to weaken the digestive organs, while asafoetida and gentian are excellent digestive stimulants. Asafoetida, garlic and onions have a good effect on the lungs and bronchia.

Successful Everywhere.

People everywhere are talking of the quick and fine results Foley's Kidney Pills give in backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles. You cannot take them into your system without good results. That is because Foley's Kidney Pills give to the kidneys and bladder just what nature calls for to heal these weakened and inactive organs. All druggists.

Richmond Drug Stores Are Giving Away a Limited Supply of the New External Vapor Treatment.

Applied Over Throat and Chest, It Relieves Colds Over Night. Croup in Fifteen Minutes.

Local druggists report a remarkable demand for the new vapor treatment for croup and cold troubles, Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve, recently introduced here from North Carolina. This treatment is in the form of a salve that is applied externally over the chest and throat. The heat of the body releases the soothing antiseptic vapors of Eucalyptol, Thymol, Menthol, Camphor, Pinus Sylvestris, etc., which are inhaled with every breath through the air passages direct to the lungs. At the same time Vick's is absorbed through the skin taking out the soreness.

In croup cases the breathing is made easier in five minutes, and in fifteen minutes the worse cases are relieved. In cases of severe colds, hot wet towels are first applied to the chest and throat to open the pores of the skin. Follow this with a good application of Vick's and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The vapors inhaled all night long loosen the phlegm and open the air passages. The next morning the head is clear and the soreness gone from the lungs.

A number of the more enterprising druggists have made arrangements with the manufacturers by which they are allowed to give away a limited number of 25-cent packages free to the customers.

If your druggist has given away all his free packages, you can purchase a 25c. 50c. or $1.00 jar on 30 days' trial. With each purchase you are given a refund blank, good for your money back if you do not find Vick's the best thing you have ever tried.

Among the druggists who are giving away free packages are: H. L. Perry, Stockton & Son and E. C. Wines, & Co.

Remember the supply with each druggist for free distribution is limited, so present your coupon early. These coupons are good only at your own dealer's.

Be a Man.

Foolish spending is the father of poverty. Do not be ashamed of hard work. Work for the best salaries and wages you can get, but work for half-price rather than be idle. Be your own master and do not let society or fashion swallow up your individuality—last, coat and boots. Do not eat up or wear out all you earn. Compel your selfish body to spare something for profits saved. Be stingy to your own appetite, but merciful to others' necessities. Help others, and ask no help for yourself. See that you are proud. Let your pride be of the right kind. Be too proud to be lazy; too proud to give up without conquering every difficulty; too proud to wear a coat you cannot afford to buy; too proud to be in company that you cannot keep up with expenses.
